

Privacy Practices

Peace Counseling LLC

Effective Date: July 23, 2026

At Peace Counseling LLC, your privacy is important to us. We are committed to protecting the confidentiality and security of your personal and health information. This Privacy Practices statement explains how we collect, use, disclose, and safeguard your information when you visit our website or receive services from our practice.

Information We Collect

We may collect personal information that you voluntarily provide, including:

- Name
- Phone number
- Email address
- Date of birth
- Insurance information
- Payment information
- Information submitted through contact forms or appointment requests

If you become a client, we also collect health information necessary to provide counseling services in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.

How We Use Your Information

Your information may be used to:

- Schedule appointments
- Provide counseling services
- Communicate regarding your care
- Process payments and insurance claims
- Respond to inquiries
- Improve our website and services
- Meet legal, ethical, and regulatory requirements

Confidentiality

Your counseling records are confidential and are protected by federal and state privacy laws, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), where applicable.

Information will not be shared without your written authorization except as permitted or required by law, including situations involving:

- Risk of serious harm to yourself or others
- Suspected abuse or neglect of a child, elderly person, or vulnerable adult
- Court orders or other legal requirements
- Certain healthcare operations, payment, or treatment purposes permitted by law

These exceptions will be discussed during the informed consent process.

Website Information

Our website may collect limited non-identifying information such as browser type, device information, IP address, and pages visited to improve website performance and user experience.

We may use cookies or similar technologies. You can adjust your browser settings to disable cookies if you prefer.

Email and Electronic Communication

Email and online communication are convenient but are not always secure. Please avoid sending confidential or sensitive health information through standard email or website contact forms.

If you choose to communicate electronically, you acknowledge the potential privacy risks associated with electronic communication.

Third-Party Services

Our website may contain links to third-party websites or utilize third-party scheduling, payment processing, telehealth, or electronic health record services. These providers maintain their own privacy policies, and we encourage you to review them.

Your Rights

Depending on applicable law, you may have the right to:

- Request access to your records
- Request corrections to your information
- Receive a copy of certain records
- Request restrictions on certain disclosures
- File a complaint regarding privacy practices without fear of retaliation

Data Security

Peace Counseling LLC implements reasonable administrative, physical, and technical safeguards to protect your personal information from unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, or destruction.

While we strive to protect your information, no method of electronic transmission or storage can be guaranteed to be completely secure.

Children's Privacy

Our website is not intended for children under the age of 13. We do not knowingly collect personal information from children through our website without appropriate parental or legal guardian consent.

Changes to This Privacy Practices Statement

Peace Counseling LLC reserves the right to update this Privacy Practices statement at any time. Any revisions will be posted on this page with an updated effective date.
